SAWYER | MASON

We set out to make a floor that combines the beauty of wide plank with the latest trends in design. A wide plank wood floor that uses authentic real wood, is green, and doesn't compromise on stability. And, most importantly, we wanted to offer the most amazing looking structured plank flooring that offers stunning unique colors and textures.

We're always adding to our stock.

THE SAWYER MASON DIFFERENCE.
CONSTRUCTED LIKE NO OTHER.

The scientifically formulated Para Wood core ensures our floors can withstand external pressure to change.

Our floors are less likely than traditional flooring to expand, contract, or move when exposed to moisture, humidity, or temperature extremes.

From foundation to precious hardwood surface, each individual layer of our structured flooring is best-in-class.

Together the result is unparalleled.

Top Coat
Our finishes include a wide range of colors and stains which are protected with premium top coats of either 7 layers of scratch resistant UV-urethane or 3 layers of UV-oil.

Sustainable and Green
Our plank flooring is comprised of sustainable materials and is environmentally friendly. The sustainable core of our structured plank floors consists of a hardwood Para Wood with similar properties as oak.

Hardwood Surface
Produced from premium, sustainably sourced hardwoods, including European French Oak, our surfaces are available in thicknesses of 3.2mm, 4mm, or 6mm.

Para Wood Core
At the heart of every floor is our specially formulated pattern of Para Wood, a sustainable hardwood with characteristics similar to Oak, which gives the flooring its core strength and stability.

Foundation Layer
The bottom timber foundation layer adds additional stability and durability to the floor.

From Foundation

to French Oak Hardwood Floors

Sawyer Mason Flooring starts at the core: Para Wood, sustainable hardwood that shares similar characteristics with French Oak.

The density of Para Wood is the same as French Oak; however, this tree grows year round in ideal climates and quickly enough to offer a sustainable harvest. The Para Wood is prepped by being cut into short individual filets which are placed next to one another and hot pressed together perpendicularly to the length of the board to provide the most strength and stability while still allowing the wood to breathe with changes to the environment.

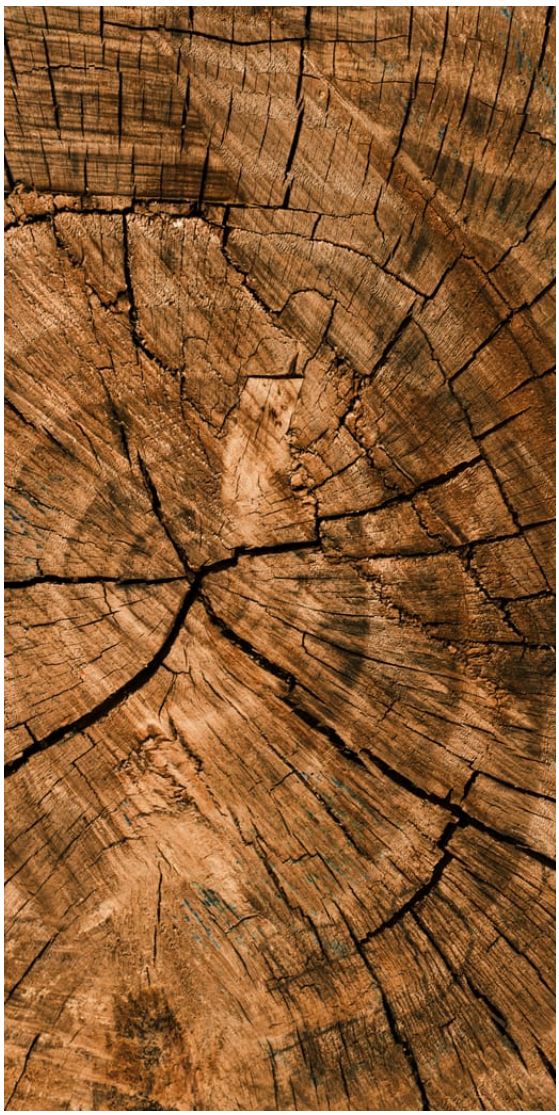

The core pieces are then split and sanded to the proper thickness and width. Sanding is done at an angle. This is a novel process that allows for a smoother finish and clean lamination to the face of the wood.

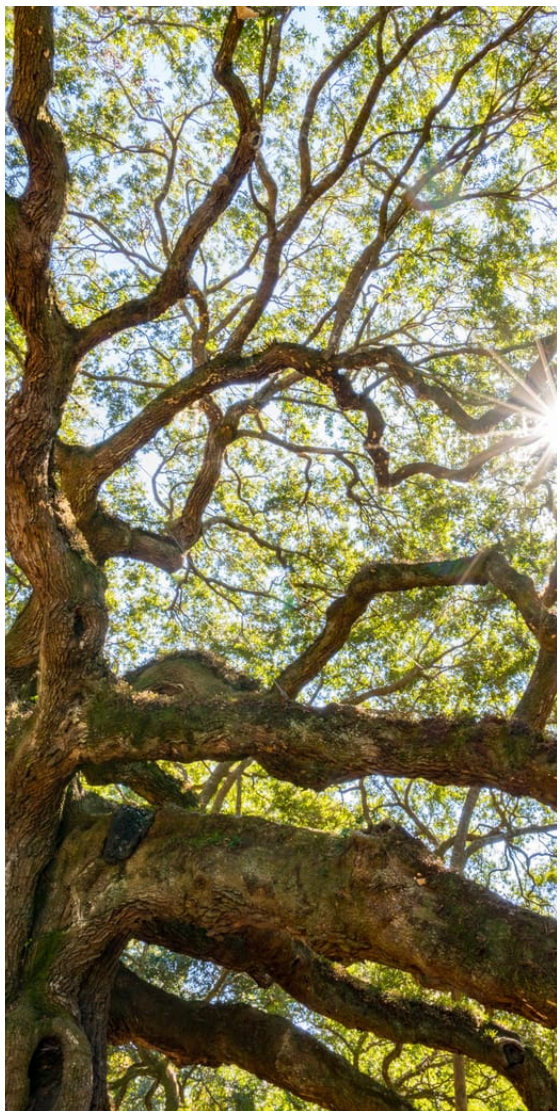

While the core is prepped, the face wood veneers, made from European French Oak, are carefully cut to the proper lengths and thicknesses for precise, consistent boards. Subsequently, a process known as “blanking” is used to carefully sand and remove imperfections from the boards. The face veneers are then precisely cut to their final thickness of 3.2mm, 4mm, or 6mm, creating the thick, durable wear layer of Sawyer Mason flooring.

The core and the face are then carefully laminated together using a high-temperature hot press. Our glue produces zero emissions and no off gassing, so our flooring is completely within CARB compliance standards, and releases even less formaldehyde than a typical apple.

Our boards are hand-crafted with a unique style, featuring techniques like planer scraping, true hand scraping, hand brushing, and natural-looking cracks that give every piece its own character.

Before staining, the boards are carefully run through a spray center to prepare the surface. Reactive stains are applied and wiped off to create special effects, resulting in the distinctive coloring of our floors. These finishes and reactive color treatments make the flooring easy to maintain while enhancing depth and character.

The Lights

Light wood floors brighten any room. Sawyer Mason's collection of light-colored flooring ranges from warm, sandy tones to soft neutrals that blend light and dark hues for depth and contrast.

Sausalito Select

"Wood floors are one of the most important material selections for the entire home. They set the vibe for the entire living experience."

David Gershaw

An escape from city life, this remarkable sanctuary sits within the historic Charlestown Navy Yard overlooking Boston Harbor. Designer David Gershaw worked with architect Doreve Nicholaeff of Nicholaeff Architecture + Design to create a space that maximized the beautiful views of the ocean and city skyline from every room, while simplifying the layout for a more organized and natural flow.

The interior design style Gershaw was inspired by can best be described as an industrial take on "Japandi", which blends the smooth, modern lines of Scandinavian design with the sleek, functional, elegance of Japanese aesthetic. "The light coloring and black character markings of the Sausalito Select floors helped bring the Japandi aesthetic to life", Gershaw says.

The Beach Club

Steeped in nearly a century of seaside tradition, the Beach Club renovation celebrates everything members have always loved while elevating the experience for the next generation. Lineal Architects + Builders, in collaboration with William Conrad & Co. Interiors, reimagined the clubhouse with brighter spaces, improved functionality, and a seamless connection to ocean views starting with Lighthouse flooring.

Chosen for its effortless harmony with the surrounding landscape, Lighthouse flooring reflects the soft, sandy tones of the beach just steps away. From the soaring dining room to the reworked circulation and resilient coastal structure, every detail reflects thoughtful preservation and intentional renewal. This refreshed clubhouse has become a place where history, hospitality, and timeless design meet the future.

Featured Project

Olivia Rink's Kentucky Home

Olivia Rink is a Kentucky-based lifestyle influencer and blogger best known for sharing personal style, home design, and everyday life content on her social media platforms. In her recent project, she highlights using Sawyer Mason's Sausalito Select flooring in her newly renovated home.

From the moment you step into Olivia Rink's home, the flooring sets the tone. Sausalito Select is known for its refined yet organic appearance, and in Olivia's space it provides a seamless foundation. The longer planks and wider widths connect each room, elevating the interiors and giving the home an intentional and effortless feel.

"I loved the longer lengths and wider widths that create a truly custom look. There were so many unique colors and textures that are typically hard to find with this type of flooring," Olivia shares.

The lightly rustic texture brings character and authenticity, while the refined finish keeps the look polished and current. This versatility makes the flooring a natural fit for everyday living, offering durability alongside timeless appeal. "We love that this wood has rustic looking texture and a little bit of a farmhouse look but also goes with the style and design of our home," Olivia explains.

Olivia Rink's featured project is a testament to how the right flooring can transform a space. With Sawyer Mason's Sausalito Select flooring as its foundation, her home feels cohesive, inviting, and distinctly personal, reflecting her unique taste and attention to detail. It is a perfect example of how thoughtful material choices can elevate both style and function.

Developer Installation

with McGeough Custom Homes

McGeough Custom Homes was founded on architectural principles that focus on light, materials, and topography to create a home's harmonious livability. Builder John McGeough incorporated Developer Sausalito flooring into this design, which complements the warm tones and neutral features of this suburban home.

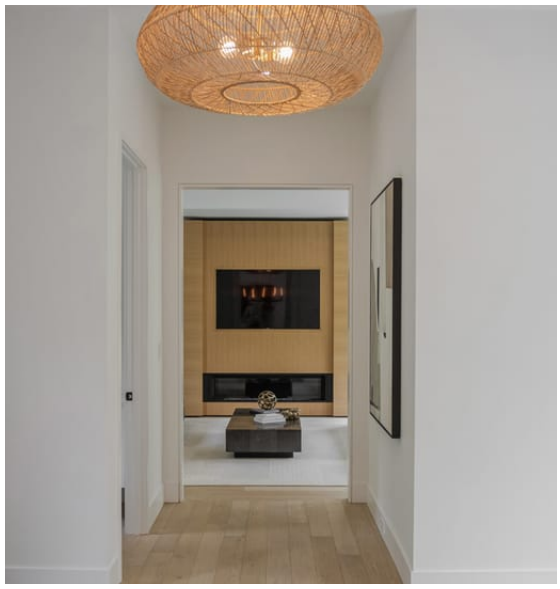

Rooted in simplicity and inspired by nature, this organic modern home balances contemporary forms with subtle texture. Warm neutrals and handcrafted finishes create a sense of quiet luxury, while expansive windows blur the line between indoor and outdoor living. Light wood accents, layered textures, and neutral tones bring a modern yet relaxed feel, and the open layout connects the living, dining, and kitchen areas for easy living. The result is a space that feels both elevated and effortlessly livable.

Chosen for its look and lasting performance, the Developer Sausalito flooring grounds this home with warmth. Its natural tones and organic texture establish a calm, cohesive foundation that enhances the architectural details and complements a wide range of design elements, from layered neutrals to sculptural accents, without overwhelming the space.

Developer Sausalito

Built with the same high standards, floors in the Developer Collection, give you the most stable plank flooring in a range of colors and looks. This collection offers a unique flooring solution with exceptional value, without sacrificing craftsmanship, performance, or style.

For this installation, each plank is 5.75" wide, with lengths ranging from 6 to 7 feet. A durable UV Bona finish enhances the wood's natural character. With a light to medium character grade and a solid 9/16" thickness, these floors deliver dependable stability, ideal for modern builds and upscale renovations.

The Neutrals

Neutral wood floors are timeless, inspired by natural earth tones. From light to deep hues, they offer warmth, versatility, and a foundation for both traditional and modern spaces.

Sconset

A Refined Escape: Seaside with Sconset

Builder Chris O'Connell designed this home using the Nantucket shoreline as his inspiration. This space includes a sandy color pallet with beach grass accent colors, and our Sconset flooring. These elements create a coastal atmosphere that balances timeless design with everyday comfort and warmth.

The matte finish enhances the wood's authentic character while maintaining a clean, understated look. Designed with minimal distressing, Sconset feels crisp and airy, allowing the natural beauty of the planks to shine without distraction, making it the perfect choice for this seaside home.

Copley

Add Character with Copley

by Doyle Build

This project presents Copley flooring as an integral architectural element, installed in a fully custom herringbone pattern with each plank hand-cut to ensure accuracy, consistency, and proportion.

Amy Doyle chose Copley flooring for its natural design. “Copley’s matte finish, subtle texture, and natural knots blend effortlessly with our home’s aesthetic. The flooring adds warmth and depth and timeless character that ties in every design element throughout the home.”

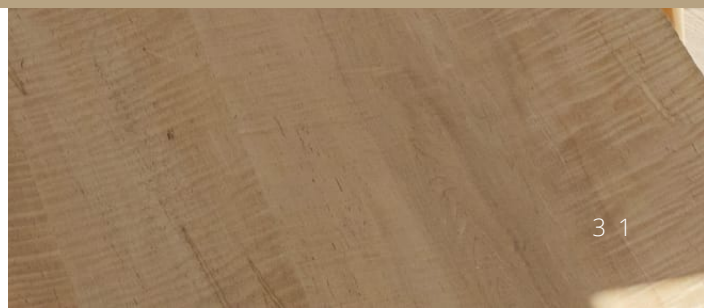

Light distressing softens the surface, while nuanced tones of wheat and light gray introduce depth and variation without disrupting the overall calm of the design. These subtle color shifts interact with natural light throughout the day, enhancing the floor’s material presence while remaining architecturally quiet.

Together, the precision of the herringbone layout in the dining room and the understated finish create a flooring system that supports the architecture as a whole: balancing craftsmanship, texture, and geometry to deliver a timeless and cohesive interior environment.

“We wanted the space to feel warm, grounded and foundational, and Copley exudes those feelings”

Developer Sconset

Modern Simplicity: Developer Sconset

This modern home is grounded in Developer Sconset flooring. Its light tone and matte finish create an effortlessly natural foundation, allowing the architecture and furnishings to breathe. The soft, sun-washed color reflects light beautifully, enhancing the openness of each room and reinforcing a clean, contemporary aesthetic.

Intentionally crafted with minimal distressing, Sconset maintains a smooth, refined surface that punctuates the crisp, airy feel of the space. The result is a seamless backdrop, understated yet elevated, that supports a modern design vision rooted in simplicity, warmth, and timeless appeal.

Rockport

Grounded with Rockport

by Fombelle Design

Fombelle Design and Development sees potential where others see wear and age. Through a thoughtful blend of vision, craftsmanship, and respect for original character, the team uncovers what makes the home unique and builds upon it.

This featured home is beautifully grounded by Rockport, a rich, dark wood floor that sets a warm, sophisticated tone throughout the space. Open, airy layouts allow the flooring to flow seamlessly from room to room, unifying the home with a sense of balance and continuity.

“The selection of Rockport wide plank flooring for this project was intentional, honoring the home’s colonial garrison style and cozy character while delivering a fresh, modern feel,” says builder and designer Gina Fombelle.

“We chose wider planks to capture the authentic scale and timeless warmth of traditional New England homes,” says Gina. “Rockport’s subtle variation, gentle grain, and understated knots provide just the right texture to blend contemporary details with classic charm—resulting in a space that feels both updated and invitingly cozy”.

“Rockport’s warm, natural medium-brown tones perfectly bridge our cabinetry and paint colors for a unified palette”
